Make the big phone companies allow ISPs to use their lines. They want to crush the independent ISPs who actually answer the phone when you call them with a problem...unlike our phone company which connects you to a machine in another state.